Wat Phra That Choeng Chum

Location : Muang District

Wat Phra That Choeng Chum is located in Muang District. It is believed that the four incarnations of the Buddha came to this spot and they pressed their footprints on the soil. The pagoda was built to cover the footprints of the four Buddhas. Their names are Phra Kakusantha, Phra Konakhom, Phra Katsapa, and Phra Khodom (the present Lord Buddha) and the pagoda is called Phra That Choeng Chum. The history of this pagoda is not clear. Phrathat is a sacred icon for Sakon Nakhon. The pagoda is the Lao style and 24 meters high. It is decorated with 3.75 kilograms golden umbrella. Next to the Phrathat is the chapel of Luang Pho Ong Saen. It is a holy Buddha image of the province. On Wan Phra or Buddhist Holy Day, buddhists always pray in front of the Buddha image at night. The temple holds annual celebration from the 9th to 15th days of waxing moon of January.

Wat Tham Kham

Location : Phanna Nikhom District

Wat Tham Kham or Phu Kham or what villagers call Phu Kam Kham is located in Ban Kam Pah, on Phu Kham. It is a hill on the Phuphan Range. In the past, Phra Ajarn Fan Ajaro stayed at Wat Tham Kham during the Buddhist Lent in 1964 AD. After he became sick, he moved to stay at Wat Pah Udom Somporn. Moreover, this temple is the place where Phra Ajarn Test Tesrangsi's relics are kept. He is a famous monk. Many people visit this place to worship his relics. Wat Tham Kham is located on the Phuphan Range, Rai Subdistrict, Phanna Nikom District, Sakon Nakhon Province.

How to get there: Take Highway 22 for 22 kilometers, turn left and keep going for another 10 kilometers. The temple shares entrance with Phra That Phu Phek, but turn right and keep going for another 30 kilometers.

Wat Phra That Si Mongkhon

Location : Waritchaphum District

Wat Phra That Si Mongkhon is located in Waritchaphum District. The highlight of this temple is Phra That Si Mong Khon. It is an ancient pagoda. It is the holy icon of the local district, Waritchaphum District. There is no historic record about the period when the pagoda was built. Phra That Si Mong Khon has a square base. It is decorated with the picture of the history of the Lord Buddha. It was once an only laterite pagoda. It was renovated and turned into its present pagoda. In the past, the location of the pagoda was in a dense forest. The pagoda was accidentally discovered by a group of people in Waritchaphum District (formerly called Muang Waree). They helped one another to cut down trees. Then, they found a pagoda situated in the middle of the forest. They were afraid of the supernatural power. Then, they decided to stop and asked Phra Khru Lakkham to come over. Phra Khru Lakkham named the pagoda “Phra That Sri Mongkhon,” the temple “Wat Phra That Sri Mongkhon” and the village “Ban That.”

How to get there: Take Phang Khon – Waritchaphum Road. The temple is 200 meters from Waritchaphum District Office.
